

Jazzy weekend full of music, food and fun

“DINGO Creek Jazz and Blues Festival is Australia’s only personal music festival. It’s a place where music lovers can meet and greet all their favourite musicians in a setting that is second to none! Bring your sleeping bag and enjoy it the whole weekend. There is nothing like it anywhere!”

That’s how John Morrison, the Mayor of Swing City and brother of James, feels about this weekend’s event at Dingo Creek, and once again organisers have designed one incredible festival with an amazing line up.

Jazz legend Don Burrows, along with Ed Wilson, Errol Buddle, Bob Barnard, John Nicol, Kevin Hunt, John Morrison and Mason Rack on the blues are set to lift the tempo in what is shaping up to be a sensational weekend, bringing all the fun of a festival for jazz and blues lovers, while also doubling as a fundraiser for SIDS and Kids Queensland.

Dingo Creek Vineyard will rock at Traraveston (located north west of Noosa) this Saturday and Sunday but make sure you book as soon as possible for this fantastic weekend of great wine, jazz and blues, plus free BYO camping. Toilet and shower facilities will be provided.

The main stage will be operating over the weekend under cover for your all weather comfort and there will be full catering available. This is a weekend not to be missed by all music lovers.

Prepare for a great weekend of camping and self-indulgence against the beautiful backdrop of Dingo Creek Winery. Self-drive to the venue, where ample parking is available.

Accommodation is also available in nearby B&B’s and the local towns of Gympie and Noosa have motel, resort-style and caravan park accommodation.

This is a no glass, no BYO alcohol venue, alcohol will be sold at the venue.

Marg Gillespie, President of Dingo Creek Jazz and Blues Inc is thrilled with the way the event has come together, especially after last year’s festival created enormous interest across Queensland and interstate.

“It is a great chance for people to escape to the hinterland and unwind for the weekend while listening to the some of the best musicians Australia has to offer and sampling fine wine and food and supporting a great cause in SIDS and Kids Queensland,” she said.

For more information, bookings or directions, you can call Marg direct at Dingo Creek on 5485 1731.

WHAT: Dingo Creek Jazz and Blues Festival

WHERE: Dingo Creek Vineyard, Traraveston

WHEN: Saturday and Sunday, April 21 and 22

TICKETS: $55-$99 (children under 14 with adult are free)

CONTACT: 5485 1731

INFO: www.dingocreek.com.au